Introduction :

The economy of each country is depending on industrial development on the respective country. The concept of industry is related to transform raw materials into useful, refined materials or final output which are used for meeting of consumer needs. India is one of the country in the world with largest number of population and consumer, and having a biggest market, hence along with industrial development, agricultural sector and other industries to be given importance. Such industry is tourism industry. Indian economy progressed and lead towards superpower global economy since 1991. Agriculture is the main occupation in India, if agri. based industry is well planned in a view to develop tourism, India could see economical development. Importance of tourism industry has grown up in all over the world. Especially Nature tourism, Tour Tourism, Sea Tourism, Agri. tourism, Health Tourism, a like tourism industry making progress but it needs management in tourism. India needs to compete with the world in becoming superpower while developing in every field. The region from India is Maharashtra's Konkan region and feasible Palghar district has been identified as tourism potential. Jawhar, a small town, is recognized as a mini Mahabaleshwar in Palghar district. What role of tourism could play in development of Jawhar taluka is object of this research paper.

Importance of Tourism Industry in Rural & Tribal View :

The main objective of tourism industry is to avail service to the society. Initially profit is not a priority but to seek to provide maximum service to tourist at reasonable rates and promote social & economic development. India resides in villages. Agriculture is main occupation and side businesses are developing. Tourism is one of them. Adiwasi (Tribal) had been true resident of forest away from city and civilization. They are residing in scattered hills and dales in small padas, away from city and civilized lives, features typical tribal lives, rituals, rites and culture in tribal community. A tribal community is backward educationally, socially and economically but at the same time, the nature has blessed potential to develop international tourism. If tourism is developed for tribal and rural development it would be prove a boom.

Tourism has close relation with environment. Environmental diversity is an attraction for tourism. Tourism and tourism industry is related to the geographical scenario, closely physical scenario, or spots typical features are extremely pivotal in tourism development. Therefore tourism is a group activity respecting comprehensive social values. Cultural and domestic consequences are witnessed of tourism. An exchange with tourist by local people the latter could discard primitive rites.

Tourism Destinations in Jawhar Taluka :

For the development of tourism in India, Indian historical geographical, economical diversity and culture are more conducive. To the western side of India sea-coast of Maharashtra is located. Konkan region is a regional part of Maharashtra is rich in ample natural beauty. Jawhar is one of the taluka in rural parts of Palghar. Jawhar has
